Overview

The 1st Oncology Quality Care Symposium™ brings together top leaders in the quality field to share strategies and methods for improving the measurement and implementation of quality and safety in cancer care. The ECO Foundation, on behalf of ASCO, has made possible the development of this symposium in Europe.

This symposium is a multidisciplinary program of educational sessions, panel discussions, abstract presentations and poster sessions, also including highlights from the 2019 ASCO Annual Meeting and the 2019 ASCO Quality Care Symposium. World-renowned faculty will promote innovation and collaboration in quality measurement and health services research. Learn and share strategies as we address value in quality intervention, implementation of patient-centered care in clinical practices, avoiding common quality pitfalls and disparities in cancer care.

Target Audience

- + Oncologists
- + Pharmacists
- + Nurses
- + Health researchers
- + Quality specialists
- + Hospital managers
- + Payers

Learning Objectives

Upon participation in this symposium, the attendees will be able to:

- + Discuss best practices and value-creation strategies for quality interventions in a clinical setting.
- + Review and incorporate tools to implement patient-centered care in practice, as appropriate.
- + Compare and contrast models for effective team-based care to leverage the benefits of evidence-based team-based care delivery.
